NATIONAL REPUBLICAN.

WASHINGTON, D. C., MAY 26, 1881.

A WISH. BY W. E. SHAW (NESTOR.) I wish I was a printer-I really do, indeed; It seems to me that printers Have everything they need.

They get the largest and the best Of everything that grows, And get free into circuses And other kind of shows. The biggest bug will speak to them,

No matter how they dress; A shabby coat is nothing If they own a printing press. At fairs they are almost hugged By pretty girls who know

That they will crack up everything The ladies have to show. And thus they get a blow-out free

At every party feed; The reason is because they write And other people read.

HELPED BY MERMAIDS. The Wonderful Story Told by a Colored

Girl in Search of Her Mother. " Please, sir, I want you to help me find my mother," and the speaker, a slight-formed colored woman, of dark complexion, came forward to the desk where THE REPUBLICAN hireling sat grinding out copy.

"Where is your mother?" asked the scribe, thinking that she was old enough to find her mother. Deed I dun kno'," was the reply. "She's some whar about this city. I was stole away from her when I was a year old and taken to Cuba, and have been a slave there ever since. They treat you awful cruel down there, deed they do. They makes you eat cats and dogs and cotton-seed bread. You can't get no meat and bread as people have up here." "Who stole you away?"

"I alius heard it was Dr. Padlock. He lives here now, don't he? He used to come down thar every year, and take coffee away and bring it to this country. He used to tell my master, Samuel Nickerson, that he knew my mother, Sarah Brooks, and she was living in Washington."

"When were you stolen from here?" "About sixteen years ago." "How old are you now?"

"Well, I was about a year old when I was stolen, and it was sixteen years ago. I spect that would make me about fourteen now." This did not correspond with the arithmetic of THE REPUBLICAN office, but the reporter made no comment. "How did you escape?" "I ran away one day down to the ocean, and swam about two miles to a vessel, and the captain was kind, and took me on board and carried me to side, and is there now. But I was on a piece of if it had not been for the mermaids I would never | came secret. have got to the vessel.

"What do you mean by mermaids?" "Didn't you ever see mermaids? There are lots of them in the ocean about Cuba. One-half of them is persons, and the other half is fish. They have beautiful long hair, hanging down."

"What did they do?" "There were three of them, and they swam by my side, and helped me along up to the ship. One was a man, and the other two women."

"Did they say anything to you?" "Yes, they talked to me all the way." "Did they talk English?"

panish, and they live all the time in th water, and can swim, and can't drown." "Did the captain of the vessel see them?"

" Yes; but just as soon as they got me to the vessel they left. I did work about the vessel during the passage, and when I got to Galveston the colored people helped me to come here." "When did you leave Galveston?"

"Last Wednesday, and people have been kind to me and helped me along. I got here at twelve o'clock to-day, and am staying at 630 G street northwest until I can find my friends." She stated that she was sick, and had trouble from the ball in her side, which, she thought, affected her heart. The reporter concluded that the ball which had passed through her head had affected her brain. He, however, promised to help her find her mother, and if Mrs. Sarah Brooks is in the land of the living she can find her long-lost child at the place above named.

AFTER A DRAWBACK.

A Holder of Lien Certificates Sues the District Commissioners.

John Thompson, through his attorney F. E. Alexander, yesterday applied for a manda mus against the District Commissioners to compel them to issue to him drawback certificates for amounts alleged to be due him as the holder of lien certificates on property where the assessment has been reduced by revision. The bill recites the sale at par by the District to the First National Bank of New York in the fall of 1872 of assessment certificates to the amount of $800,000. Two of these certificates, Nos. 69 and 70, issued against property on the Seventh street road, the first for $5,224.44 and the second for $621,40, have come into the possession of Thompson. The certificates which, according to the legislative act of May 29, 1873, were to be paid in five equal installments, became wholly due April 14, 1875, but have never been paid. Upon application to the District Commissioners to sell the real estate against which the certificates were issued the reply was made that they were ready to advertise the property whenever the petitioner authorizing a revision of assessments, the which were adopted: Commissioners made an order reducing the assessments on the Columbia road one-third, and on the Seventh and Fourteenth street roads one-fourth of the original amount, which reduction affected the certificates held by the petitioner. He claims that the Commissioners, without any legal reason, refuse to issue to him drawback certificates to cover the amount of the reduction, and hence brings his suit. The case is regarded as an interesting one, as it will settle a point of great importance to a large number of persons holding similar certificates.

The Building Boom. Permits were issued yesterday to M. G. Emery, to build two two-story brick buildings on Pennsylvania avenue, between Third and Fourand-a-half streets northwest, for $1,000; Edgar Van Horn, to build a frame dwelling, two stories high, at | window on the first floor of the west wing, south Mount Pleasant, for $2,700; Edward A. Boyd, to side, of the Patent Office, with his pontoons (feet) erect a one-story brick dwelling on Q street, be- dangling against the whitewashed wall. I suppose tween New Jersey avenue and Fifth street northwest, for $700; Robert Davidson, to build a threestory brick residence at the corner of Massachusetts avenue and Seventeenth street northwest, for $7,000. The building will be twenty-four by seventy feet, with flat roof and one bay-window.

Fernando Wood's Estate.

A suit in equity was entered yesterday by Alice F. M., Alice M., H. A. Wise, Otis F. M., Washington F., Benjamin, and Lillie M. Wood, all minors, by their guardian, Augustus T. Gillonder, against the heirs-at-law of the late Hon. Fernando Wood, Joseph S. R. and Fernando Wood, Annie R. Hagedorn and Catharine R. Chenowith, and the United States Trust Company, of New York, the devisee in trust for the appointment of Mr. Gillender as trustee to hold certain lots which were held by the late Mr. Wood for the complainants.

have aroused and engrossed the whole attention of our people, and inferior grievances have naturally lost their force. The silly twaddle about the State

The shallow pretense of the Bourbons that they are the debt-payers of the State has long since been exploded. During the decade that followed the readmission of the State into the Union they had uninterrupted control of the State government, and the debt was not reduced to the amount of one dollar except by readjustment. After the last election leading men among the so-called debt-payers and the Bourbon press of the State, appealing to the Readjusters, declared their willingness to accept the Riddleberger bill, or almost any other settlement of the debt question which would prevent the disintegration of their party. But, even if they were really and honestly debt-payers, the fact should not control us, for the present at least. The Republican party is The Republican party is PLEDGED TO SOMETHING ELSE besides the payment of debts. They are pledged to secure to every citizen of every State in the Union absolute equality of civil and political rights. This obligation is of such paramount imrights. This obligation is of such paramount importance that until it is performed the debt question is not worthy of consideration. It is true we have in our midst Republicans who advocate a different policy, and some of them are no doubt honest; but we also have a few office-holders with large patronage at their disposal who oppose now, as they have always done, anything like the liberal movement inangurated some time since in this State and followed up by Mr. Mahone in the Senate. They are few in number, however, and owe whatever prominence they have to official position.

THERE IS NO DANGER that they will make a big or little fight this time either in or out of the party. They are known as "four-year Republicans" or "half-breeds." Their offices are filled to a great extent with Bourbon Democrats, while their days are spent in apologizing for their affiliation with the Republican party. They naturally feel afraid that with the accession Galveston, Texas. They chased me right smarr, and fired at me. One ball hit me in the head, and came out the other side. To the Editor of THE REPUBLICAN: We acknowledge no man as our leader. Our only guide is the Constitution and the law. Our motto, "Equal and exact justice to all men." As to the policy of the Republican party the writer has had an opportunity of learning something of the opinions of prominent Republicans in the State as to what that policy should be, and it is safe to say that four-fifths of them favor a coalition with the only party in the State which promises to give us a the financial market yesterday, together with openfree ballot, a fair count, and equal and exact justice before the courts. Experience of the last ten or eleven years satisfies us that we are powerless to throw off the burden under which we labor without assistance-assistance for which we can look to no other quarter than the Readjuster party. In the face of and in spite of Bourbon bull-dozing and denunciation, followed, it is true, by coaxing and fawning, they voted almost unanimously in our last Legislature to eliminate from the State constitution the clauses which put a price upon suffrage and give to every cross-roads magistrate the power to disfranchise and disgrace every voter in his district who is without the means and influence necessary for his protection. These wrongs debt will no longer do to cover up the real SITUATION IN VIRGINIA.
